

Colchester Cast Iron Lamp Standards and Lamp Brackets .

August 2018

Cast Iron Short Lamp Brackets which are set on gate pillars.

St Peter's Church ,North Hill. (a pair)

Le Cateau Barracks Gates, Butt Road. Formerly the entrance to the Artillery Barracks.

(A set of three)

Wellesley Terrace, Wellesley Road. A pair with one at each end of the front wall .

Those that were recorded at Park House, Park Road by E.J.Russell have disappeared although the gate pillars remain after the conversion to apartments of the former E.C.C Education Offices.

Although of a different style and pattern I have listed some other lamp standards in the town which are of unknown manufacture at present.

Colchester Grammar School ,Lexden Road. (A pair.)

King Edwards Quay. One only survives although the empty column remains at the motor bike works.

The ornate lamps and stone posts at the Cowdray Crescent War Memorial

The Town Hall balcony lamps and the ornate lamps on stone pillars.

Ornate iron lamp posts at both ends of the Sergeants Mess

Cast Iron Wall Lamp Brackets.

Chapel Street North. The Headgate Theatre that was originally the Congregational Church.

These are by far the most ornate survivors.

No 22-24 High Street.

This bay window is in a sad state of repair currently.

The Baptist Church ,Eld Lane.

Simple but effective.

I am sure these were not made in Colchester but I think a record is important to keep .

The old Gas Board offices in Head Street has a very fine set of lamp brackets form between the wars.
